

THEY'RE CALLING ON YOU

Recycle your phone to help wild gorillas

HOW RECYCLING YOUR MOBILE PHONE HELPS GORILLAS

Gorillas' forest homes are impacted by unregulated mining for minerals and ores - such as coltan - that are used in the creation of electronics such as smartphones. This mining is accelerating the decline in gorilla numbers in central Africa. By simply recycling your old mobile phone, you are diverting it from landfill and reducing the demand for further mining of gorilla habitat. Taronga donates all money raised from recycled and refurbished phones to support the Jane Goodall Institute's essential primate conservation work in Africa.

FOR MORE INFORMATION

taronga.org.au/act-for-the-wild/forests/theyre-calling-on-you

HOW DOES PHONE RECYCLING WORK?

- 1 Bring your old mobile phones to Taronga or collect them at home, in your office or classroom - it's amazing what you can do with a box!
- 2 Contact Mobile Muster and they will arrange a courier to collect your phones for FREE so that they can be recycled.
- 3 Mobile Muster will donate the value of your phones to Taronga for the Jane Goodall Institute's primate conservation programs.

BOOK YOUR FREE COLLECTION

mobilemuster.com.au/zoo

